I CAN DO IT TOO! I Eat Healthily Like Animals Do

ILLUSTRATED BY PAU MORGAN WRITTEN BY LENKA CHYTILOVÁ

Children like to imitate the actions of others. So why shouldn't they copy animals too? Animals can also teach them how to move, communicate and eat, as well as how to take care of themselves in different ways. Children will get acquainted with various animal kingdom examples which can motivate them to, for example, get exercising or eat healthily. With the series I Can Do It Too! children will learn something new about animals and about animal behaviour which mirrors that of humans. And after reading, they can try out everything for themselves! Thanks to the folding mechanism on each double page, it is easier for younger readers to identify with the children in the book.

THE BIG BOOKS OF

ILLUSTRATED BY ANASTASIA STROČKOVÁ WRITTEN BY ŠTĚPÁNKA SEKANINOVÁ

Have you ever wondered what venom is, how it's made and why or where it comes from and what it does? It poisons, you say? Sure, people should definitely respect venom. But did you know that when administered in small doses it can heal you or relieve your pain, provided you know how to go about it? Some animals need venom in order to protect themselves against hostile environments. If they weren't venomous, their time on this Earth would be short-lived, indeed. So who and what is venomous, a little bit or a lot? And why do plants use venom? No idea? Well, in that case get engrossed in this book-you'll learn in no time. But watch out! Proceed at your own risk!

People sleep at night. Underground there's nothing but pitch-black soil. No flowers grow under the snow. The poison is only harmful. Really? What if things are not as we readers believe them to be? The Big Books series shows us what goes on in places we can't see. Night can be a busy time, things are livelier underground than we might think, and snow can keep things nice and warm. Features of the Big Books series include full-page illustrations with openable flaps, pages filled with interesting facts and charming pictures. Big Books allow young readers to explore places and situations which their parents would never allow them to visit alone.

Each one was unique, its beauty and magnificence lauded by the greatest poets and writers of the age. Everyone longed to see for themselves the Wonders of the World: the Colossus of Rhodes, the majestic Pyramids of Giza, the Lighthouse of Alexandria, which withstood earthquakes and gales, the spellbinding Statue of Zeus at Olympia, the breathtaking Temple of Artemis in Ephesus, the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, inspiration for so many myths and legends. Just one of them survives today. But with us you can go back in time and learn the secrets of how these gems of ancient architecture were created. The building of each comprised so many details and small jobs, so much daily grind and sustained effort, with or without the help of machines.

Famous and ordinary people alike enjoy baking, playing the violin, collecting stamps and beekeeping, to name just a few. The From the Lives of the Famous series tells us about the free-time activities of celebrated personalities, and about their pets. Each story is complemented with illustrations by Czech and Slovak artists, some well known, others just starting out.

Not all our favourite stories are about princesses, dragons and lovestruck princes. What if the heroes were a rat, a sparrow and a handy frog? And what if those three didn't set anyone free, get into any fights, or claim a reward of half a kingdom with a young princess thrown in? What if, quite simply, they built an aeroplane, a car, a house, a motorcycle and a railway? The amusing, highly popular story of the three friends of the 'Technical Tales' series proves that stories for children don't have to wear a crown. With these books, young readers will laugh, enjoy Martin Sodomka's delightful illustrations and learn all they need to know about how certain things are built.
