TRACKS AND HOMES
Whose Track Is It?

If you got lost in the forest, what would you do? Well, that very thing has happened to a little fawn. Unhappy and confused, he has gone off in search of his mum, following a trail in the soil of the forest. But are these really tracks left by Mummy Deer? Maybe someone else went this way. On his expedition, the fawn learns a lot about all kinds of animals. What makes the squirrel such a great climber? What do the tracks of a horned owl look like? Do you know which animal is the quietest mover, or how a duck uses its legs to swim? If you help the fawn find his mum, a surprise will await you under every flap.

ANIMAL RELATIONSHIPS

Why Lions Roar at Lions: How Animals Communicate

SOLD: French for Europe, English for Australia, Simplified Chinese

How can I tell my chosen one that I like her? If she bares her teeth at me, does it mean that she likes me or that I should take to my heels? Relationships aren't easy at all. As animals could tell you... In many stories for children, humans understand the language of animals only when magic is involved. Abracadabra! Now they understand all kinds of barking and buzzing. Who wouldn't want to understand animal language? If you're interested in knowing what animals talk about, then these are books for you.

SUITABLE FOR
age 6-8

BOOK PARAMETERS:
Size 215×280 mm, 60 pages,
hardbinding

ILLUSTRATED BY MISHA BERA
WRITTEN BY ŠTĚPÁNKA SEKANINOVÁ

They have been with us since time immemorial. Some are close to us, others we treat with great respect. And they help us. Who are we talking about? Why, dogs, cats, pigeons, elephants, fleet-footed cheetahs, even apparently super-ordinary geese! Everyone knows that dogs and horses give humans important help, but how about geese, cheetahs and dolphins? To find out more, open this book, feast your eyes on its beautiful pictures and read the stories about how wild animals became true friends of humans.

FAIRYTALE ENCYCLOPEDIA
Observing the Plants of the Forest with Hansel and Gretel

When Hansel and Gretel got lost in the forest, they of course suddenly came upon a strange cottage made out of gingerbread, but on the other hand, they also learned a lot of forest trees, plants and fruits on their way through the forest. And just as Hansel and Gretel, also the Red Riding Hood did not only met the wolf but also many other forest animals, Sleeping Beauty learned everything about the garden, and the Snow White, thanks to the dwarves, understood that even deep underground it's very lively and far more interesting than it might seem on the first sight. The whole series of Fairy-tale Encyclopaedias is based on these famous fairy tales and aims to convey to young readers all the beauty of the world in a fun and attractive way. Not only can they read their favourite story, they can also unfold seven richly illustrated maps and learn everything they should know in their lives but a fairy tale story cannot offer. This is an unusual combination of a fairy tale and encyclopaedia in one with lots of illustrations and loads of information, such are the individual titles of the Fairy-tale encyclopaedias series.

If you were to look at our planet from above, you would see that it is interwoven with rivers like so many ribbons. Some of these rivers are wild, some long, fast-flowing, deep or shallow. Water-lovers and reluctant swimmers alike are sure to be fascinated by characteristics of the world's rivers. What do they look like? Who makes a home in them? What do they flow past? Which rivers are of vital importance to humanity? Which are crystal clear, and which gleam with all colours? Which are considered sacred? Open this book and unfold its six maps to embark on a grand expedition along the world's most interesting rivers, by kayak, dinghy and other boats besides.

TEREZA MAKOVSKÁ

Children are curious and they ask a lot of questions. That's something each parent knows. Why is the sky blue? Why do we sneeze? And where does the wind come from? Books from this series will give them answers to these questions. And even more! On sixteen pages, they can find 80 questions about various topics – about nature, weather, human body, space, geography and even about society, history or science. Not only do these books educate them, children will also have fun with various mechanisms that accompany both titles. Pull tabs, flip-flaps and rotating mechanisms will make learning fun.

They're all around us. We use them daily, pass them by, and it never occurs to us to stop and think about where they came from. What, you ask? The most ordinary things in the world, of course! Shoes, umbrellas, toothbrushes, toothpicks, socks, dolls, and so on and so forth. How did they come to be? Who invented them, how did they develop and change over time? If you'd like to know the answer to these questions, to peek behind the curtain that drapes the most ordinary stuff in mystery, then definitely read on and learn the story of common things.

How the Wonders of the World Were Built

age 9–12

BOOK PARAMETERS:

Size 240×320 mm, 48 pages,
hardbinding

ILLUSTRATED BY TOMÁŠ SVOBODA

WRITTEN BY LUDMILA HÉNKOVÁ

SOLD: Korean, Simplified Chinese,
Italian, Slovene, Spanish

Each one was unique, its beauty and magnificence lauded by the greatest poets and writers of the age. Everyone longed to see for themselves the Wonders of the World: the Colossus of Rhodes, the majestic Pyramids of Giza, the Lighthouse of Alexandria, which withstood earthquakes and gales, the spellbinding Statue of Zeus at Olympia, the breathtaking Temple of Artemis in Ephesus, the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, inspiration for so many myths and legends. Just one of them survives today. But with us you can go back in time and learn the secrets of how these gems of ancient architecture were created. The building of each comprised so many details and small jobs, so much daily grind and sustained effort, with or without the help of machines.

SHOES

Have you ever had the splinteriest of all splinters stuck in your foot? Ouch, ouch... If you have, then you know it hurts like hell. Just take a stroll around the garden as you are – with bare feet. Picture it: dewy grass, the rising sun. One wants to enjoy the nature with all their senses, but oh, oh! Their pampered feet immediately start protesting. "Help! What are you doing to us, you silly little human? The pebbles are sharp, the twigs prickly, and the grass tickles. Put on your shoes, right now! These, what a relief! Had to the genius who invented shoes." Well, yeah, but who was it? And what's the story of shoes, anyway?

PREHISTORY

leather

Why bears exactly?

The soles of some prehistoric shoes were made from bear skin. Why bear skin when it's thicker than cowhide and lets more water through? The answer is simple. The ancients believed that bear skin would give them the strength of the feared animal and protect them.

The first shoemakers

Which material was used to make shoes in prehistoric times? That's a no-brainer! Some had: furs, bontas, or pole leaves were more than enough to sew a pair of sandals. If you wanted sturdier footwear, you needed leather or fur.

TIME LINE

PREHISTORY ANCIENT EGYPT ANCIENT GREEK ANCIENT ROME THE MIDDLE AGES RENAISSANCE BAROQUE 18TH CENTURY

Keep an eye on my shoes

Prehistoric times were followed by the antiquity – and by masters of the shoemaking craft as well. These men could weave sandals from tiny strips, but also sew hard leather shoes or rainproof high boots. In Egypt, the job was pretty easy since the arid hot climate required simple shoes – leather sandals that looked like the flip-flops we love today. They were worn mostly by rich men, and also the Pharaohs. When the Pharaohs grew tired of wearing shoes, he entrusted them to one of his servants, a so-called sandal-bearer.

ANCIENT EGYPT

decorative

Shoe production in Egypt

The leather that went into Egyptian sandals was soft and supple. That's because shoemakers would soak them in a special liquid. This would allow the weavers to march through a large puddle – if there had been any puddles in Egypt, that is – without having to worry about water getting in, or about the footwear slowly but surely rotting away.

Pharaohs shoes were decorated with beads, gold, semi-precious stones (e.g. carnelian) and precious stones (e.g. lapis lazuli etc.)

Unlimited working hours!

Those who expected to find their peace after the construction was completed were disappointed. Once everything was finished, the gardens had to be maintained. And again, that required a great deal of working staff. What did they have to do? Fertilizing, weeding, mowing, cutting, shortening, pruning. We know about all that. The most demanding task, however, was irrigation.

Get to work!

The construction of the Hanging Gardens required enormous human resources. Fortunately for the king and unfortunately for the captives, Nebuchadnezzar had many slaves that he had enslaved during his many conquests. Thousands of people worked on the construction, including slaves, architects, engineers, builders, material carriers – who mainly transported a huge volume of soil, as well as plants and exotic trees – and brick manufacturers.

Asphalt and mortar

To make the construction solid, workers reinforced the bricks with clay mortar and asphalt and often added plaster to the mortar. Where the joints had to be sealed, lead was poured over the bricks. Asphalt and feltpaper, also called bitumen, were often used as well.

Ishtar's lion

The city surrounded by walls accessible through gates. The most famous one is the Ishtar Gate. Its corner was right next to the royal palace. It was lavishly decorated with symbols of gods. There were mighty dragons, symbols of the god Marduk, as well as large bulls celebrating the god of thunderstorms Adad and, above all, symbols of the goddess Ishtar, noble lions.

Archimedeian screw

By turning the screw, the builders were able to take up water and irrigate hard-to-reach places.

Bricks

Bricks were needed the most. Why? Babylon was located in an area with a lack of stone and wood. Stone was imported and only used in exceptional cases for selected structures. Fired and unfired bricks were mostly used in the construction industry. Unfired bricks, which were hollow and filled with clay, were used to build the foundations. Fired bricks, were used as cladding and at stress points.

Humanity is currently living through the sixth mass extinction event in Earth’s history. As well impacting on the environment and the evolution of the planet, the dying out of animal species may affect us, too – our proud claim to be lords of creation notwithstanding. In this book, award-winning poet Radek Malý sheds light on this alarming fact by telling the stories of selected extinct species and studying the causes of their sad demise. The large-format Atlas of Extinct Animals is supplemented with beautifully expressive full-page illustrations by gifted artist Jiří Grbavčič and detailed pictures by renowned scientific illustrator Pavel Dvorský. By losing yourself in this book, you will bring back to life all 41 of its heroes. Give the fate of the Blue Planet some serious thought. It is in your hands.

Nature is full of fascinating creatures. Have you noticed how diverse, yet similar can some things be? Take eggs or feathers for instance: their features may vary across the whole animal kingdom. Eggs are always at the beginning of a new life – yet they come in different sizes, shapes and colours. Don't be fooled: birds aren't the only animals capable of laying eggs! And what about that feather that lies under the tree? Feathers are as diverse as the birds that wear them to suit their habitat. Many birds make a feather bed in their nests to lay their fragile eggs on; the feathers of some males can even make them more successful in attracting their future bride! Learn about the most interesting species in the bird kingdom and their eggs or feathers – on a large-format poster too!

TECHNICAL TALES
How to Build a Railway

SOLD: Russian, Ukrainian, Simplified Chinese, Vietnamese, Lithuanian

Not all our favourite stories are about princesses, dragons and lovestruck princes. What if the heroes were a rat, a sparrow and a handy frog? And what if those three didn't set anyone free, get into any fights, or claim a reward of half a kingdom with a young princess thrown in? What if, quite simply, they built an aeroplane, a car, a house, a motorcycle and a railway? The amusing, highly popular story of the three friends of the 'Technical Tales' series proves that stories for children don't have to wear a crown. With these books, young readers will laugh, enjoy Martin Sodomka's delightful illustrations and learn all they need to know about how certain things are built.
