THE LITTLE TRACTOR AND ANIMALS

It was harvest time and black and white rabbits brought the jolly tractor to the carrot fields to help them harvest the crops. It was a lovely day – the sun was shining so everyone enjoyed their work. Except for the tractor. When the kitty sat behind the tractor's wheel, the tractor's face turned sour and he refused to start the engine. "Today I don't feel like working on the field. I'd rather go out on an adventure! Why don't go to the amusement park?" said the tractor. "What a great idea!" everyone agreed and off they went.

There were so many amazing things to see in the amusement park! The first show that our friends saw was the monkey and fish show, who were training with a hoop. The fish was jumping through it; back and forth; out of the water and in. "That's so much fun!" gasped the tractor. "If we hadn't gone for a trip, we'd never have seen such a performance. Back home it's all work and no play. I wonder what we'll see next!" Everyone looked at the fish for the last time and continued their journey.

It's the time of the harvest. One day, a group of friends decides to take a day off from work. They'll go out for a trip and have loads of fun in the amusement park! Join our heroes on their journey in a unique book by celebrated Czech artist Vojtěch Kubašta, whose innovative pop-ups books have amused children all over the world.
