ANIMALS ON SAFARI

Who wouldn't like to explore remote countries and meet the exotic animals that live there? Our friends went to Africa, a faraway country, where lions, elephants, monkeys and giraffes live. What would happen if they brought an animal back home with them? First, they met the mighty lion, the king of animals. They treated him as a true king and prepared some delicious pan-fried ostrich eggs. Oh-oh! One bite and all gone. Just imagine how much food he would need! Therefore, the animals said goodbye to him and off they went.

They made their way through the dense rainforest, until they reached a river. They were lucky enough to see an elephant cooling down there. He was spraying himself with water with his peculiar trunk. He even gave the dog a refreshing shower! Soon they realized they weren't alone: not one, but two crocodiles appeared! And when the flamingo pecked the rabbit on its paw, they decided to move on. These animals wouldn't make the best of pets...

Have you ever been to Africa? If not, you have an amazing chance to go there! Come with us and get to know the animals that live there.
