To keep out the cold, Mr Owl could do with a rug under his feet. "It should be colourful and soft and... where did I put it now?"
thinks the bear.

"It still needs something for the wall," the bear mumbles under his muzzle, as he looks around. Then he opens the cupboard. Can you guess what's inside?

Every house should have something fun in it. Like pennants on a string. "Mr Owl will hang these up and feel happier straight away," rejoices the bear.
