Tony Hare

And Party in the Woods

Two animals are walking in the woods. A hare and a squirrel. They are chatting merrily. Then they hear someone waking up in a den under an oak tree.

Three animals are walking in the woods.
A hare, a squirrel and a fox. The sun is tickling their whiskers.
But who is that hiding in the tall grass?

Four animals are walking in the woods. A hare, a squirrel, a fox and a fawn. Left, right, left, right! One after another. Can you guess who is waving to them from a window in the hollow of a tree?

Tony Hare

And Party in the Woods

It is Tony Hare's birthday. He is giving a party in the woods. "Come to my party, fawn!" says Tony merrily. He invites all his friends, one after another. How many woodland animals will come to Tony's party, do you think? Young readers will learn about their homes and how to count with Tony.
