People often say: My home is my castle. It's not any different in this particular house: siblings Peapod and Pie know every nook and cranny of their beloved home. Some people also think that pets often resemble their owners. And hamster Sid, Peapod's and Pie's pet, is fidgety just like these two rascals. The only difference between them is that Sid doesn't live with them long enough to know the house like the back of his paw. Wait ... can you hear that? What is Pie saying to Peapod? Oh boy, it looks like they will need a helping hand! Search the rooms of the house with them and don't forget to peep under each flap. Sid can be hiding anywhere!

We live with our parents and grandparents - no wonder our kitchen and dining room is SO BIG! Our dad is a real foodie and his signature dish are pancakes. They are hea-ven-ly! Even grandma Millie, who knows her way around desserts - always gives dad a complimentary nod. Kitchen is full of odd appliances and delicious goodies.

Peapod, help! Sid got out of his cage and he's on the loose! We need to find him. Let's start in the bathroom!

Pie, what's wrong?

BATHROOM

A shower is a handy invention indeed - is quick shower can help save great amounts of water! You just hop in, close the door (so no water gets out) and run the tap. How does the water get to your tap? It passes by the pipes that are connected to your plumbing system and through the water heater right to your taps. Through the drain it goes back to the water pipes that are connected to public water utilities, which take care of the water's quality.

Is this a ladder?
No, it's a heater
and a towel rail!
It heats the bathroom up
in no time.

Sid, is that you?

Dirty clothes belong to
the laundry basket!
This way we know they need to be washed.

I think he has headed to the living room!
