

Let's explore OCEAN

Pavla Hanáčková, Helena Haraštová
& Edita Hajdu

Whether the ocean is calm or stormy, there's always lots going on under its surface. Ocean life is unbelievably varied and colourful. Would you like to go down to see?

Thanks to the breathing apparatus I can breathe underwater.

Hi, kids! My name's Teri, and I've enjoyed coming to the sea since I was little. I especially love diving, and I want to show you what it's like in the ocean.

I'm wearing a diving suit. It protects me in deep water.

On your marks. Get set. Sink!

We plunge into the water in a submarine. Look through the windows and stay dry!

Welcome among us, landlubbers ...

OCEAN EXPLORERS

To go a few metres below the surface, you don't need a submarine. Divers put big, wide flippers on their feet for speed and agility.

But at very great depths you can't see anything. Let's dive in a special deep-sea submarine and find lost treasures!

Oceans contain all kinds of things – secret caves, for instance. An underwater drone explores even narrow rifts in rock, filming its findings.

Don't touch me, you foolish tin!

Let's explore OCEAN

Pavla Hanáčková, Helena Haraštová
& Edita Hajdu

So you're interested in life in the ocean deep. What a coincidence! Bold Theresa is putting on her diving suit right now, and she'd like you to join her adventure. She is ready to introduce curious adventurers aged 3+ to octopuses, jellyfish, sharks and other ocean creatures, show them what every diver needs, and teach them about instruments scientists use to explore the seabed. Hurray for the ocean!
