READ

Bella and Sam have homework from kindergarten. They must sow tomato seeds in pots and after a few weeks when they have grown, plant them outside. First they put some soil into a pot, scatter tomato seeds on top, cover with a little more soil and sprinkle with water.

Then they place the pot on the window sill in the warm sunshine and water it to grow.

HURRY UP, YOUR SEED IS LOOKING FORWARD TO THE FRESH AIR!

Lots of animals and insects are watching them, all ready to have a nibble of the tasty vegetables that are growing! All animals know that fruits and vegetables are tasty and healthy.

Hurray! The seeds have grown into small plants now! Bella and Sam take the pot outside and plant the tomato seedlings into the garden soil.

CAN YOU SPOT...

Bella, look at that cute hare in the vegetable bed!

"Oh no Sam! It is going to eat our carrots! Hares love carrots, cabbage and kohlrabi, and so do mice and voles. Sometimes it's hard to protect all the vegetables from them"

Bella runs to scare the hare away.
